

Mirela Karadža

Applied Linguistics, PhD

Department of English

Sarajevo School of Science and Technology

1. Education

- 2009 – 2013 PhD in Applied Linguistics, English and Applied Linguistics, University of Mostar
- 2005 - 2008 Master of Applied Linguistics, English and Applied Linguistics, University of Mostar
- 2000 - 2004 English Language Teacher (4 years), English Language and Literature, University of Mostar

2. Key positions

- Applied linguistics Professor
- TEFL Advisor
- English Language Teacher at High School, Mostar

3. Teaching

- Topics in General and Applied Linguistics
- Teaching Young Learners
- TEFL Methods

4. Publications

- Didaktički putokazi, Adolescents and English Language Learning, 68/2014
- Naša škola, The impact of learning theories for foreign languages teaching methods, 46/216
- Zbornik radova: Kulturni identitet u digitalnom dobu, The role of grammar in high school teaching of English: The methodological approach, Zenica 2014
- Didaktički putokazi, How to motivate students to learn the foreign language, 48/2008
- Slovo gorčina, Teacher as an important factor of successful teaching of English in high school, 36/2014

5. Membership in international associations / collaborations

- Cooperation with the Pedagogical Institute Mostar
- Cooperation with Federal Ministry of Education and Science

6. Research interests

- Language acquisition
- The influence of sciences on language teaching
- Educational psychology